

Edwardian 9ct gold moss agate cabochon ring

£120

REF: 5591

Description

An Edwardian 9ct gold ring with an oval cabochon moss agate, circa 1910.

Moss agate, a translucent chalcedony, features green or brown inclusions resembling moss or lichen. Valued for its unique, natural patterns, it is used in jewellery and decorative objects. Symbolically, moss agate is believed to promote healing, stability, and growth, making it a cherished gemstone in various cultural and spiritual practices.
