

Edwardian rose gold locket

£495

Description

An Edwardian 9ct rose gold locket with a single old mine cut diamond on a 9ct gold chain.

Old mine cut diamonds, popular in the 18th and 19th centuries, are known for their vintage charm and hand-cut craftsmanship. Featuring a cushion-shaped outline with slightly rounded edges, they have a high crown, small table, and large open culet. These diamonds were cut for candlelight, creating a warm, romantic sparkle. Each stone is unique, reflecting the artistry of its era. Today, old mine cuts are prized for their antique appeal and eco-friendly, sustainable origins.
