

Early 19th century glass decanter

£35

Description

An early 19th century three ring neck cut glass decanter, circa 1840.

Three-ring neck decanters, featuring a distinctive design with three decorative rings around the neck, combine style with functionality. This classic design not only enhances the visual appeal but also offers a comfortable grip. Popular from the 18th to 19th centuries, these decanters reflect both craftsmanship and timeless elegance.
