

Georgian seven stone diamond ring

Sold

Description

A Georgian seven stone diamond ring set with silver and gold and old cushion and rose cut diamonds, circa 1790

UK Ring Size: N

Old cushion-cut and rose-cut diamonds evoke timeless elegance with their vintage charm. The cushion cut, a predecessor to modern cuts, features rounded corners and a pillow-like shape, emphasizing brilliance and depth. Rose-cut diamonds, with their flat base and domed, faceted crown resembling a rosebud, offer a subtle, romantic sparkle. Both styles date back centuries, treasured for their antique allure. Their imperfect, hand-crafted beauty makes them sought after in heirloom jewellery and modern designs celebrating vintage sophistication.