Description

Made by the 19th century royal silversmiths Hunt & Roskell, this is an unusual and quite rare antique silver butter dish with a flatter lid and handle and fitted with removable glass liner.

Each is adorned with matching applied strapwork decorations.

Hunt & Roskell was a renowned jeweller and silversmith on Bond Street in London who for many years held the royal warrant of Queen Victoria. The firm was the successor to the celebrated silversmith Paul Storr who had left to set up his own workshop.

The diameter of the bowl is 145mm
