Smart, modern, silver wine funnel filter with matching drip tray and made in a good, heavy-gauge of silver. The rims of the tray and the filter bowl feature applied cast mounts decorated in a stylish pattern of interlocking rings.

The dimensions given are for the wine funnel and the weight includes the tray, whose diameter is 110 mm (4¼")

First appearing at the end of the 17th century, silver wine funnels were designed to decant wine from the bottle to a decanter for the table. The bowl was pierced with holes for catching larger pieces of detritus such as cork, while a retaining ring kept a piece of muslin straining cloth in place which filtered out finer sediment and prevented spoiling the wine in the decanter.

In the 18th century the spigot was crafted with a curved tip to ensure the wine ran gently down the wall of the decanter and, particularly for very fine or old wines, prevent bruising the wine.
